About Sherwood Park Hall

Sherwood Park Hall is a trusted community anchor in Mitcham, serving as a family hub, wellbeing space and cultural platform at the heart of the local community.

Rooted in place and built for long-term impact, the Hall connects generations through inclusive programming, creative activity and accessible space.

For corporate partners, Sherwood Park Hall offers a credible, community embedded platform for meaningful CSR engagement delivering measurable local impact while strengthening brand presence in an area of real need and opportunity.

Our Purpose

Sherwood Park Hall is central to the Pollards Hill landscape and is considered a central hub for the community. It is a multifunctional space where community, existing to connect community with the skills and resources they need in order to thrive physically, mentally and financially.

We strive for social interaction, personal growth in our community supporting low income families by providing accessible initiatives and practical support.

We offer a versatile space for hire and a range enrichment programs at a cost that suits the budget of our locals. We believe that a connected community is a thriving community, so we continue to evolve by listening to our environment to meet the ever changing needs of our neighbourhood.

THE MISSION

We are committed to building stronger communities through experiences that empower people, nurture wellbeing and celebrate creativity, culture and togetherness.

We deliver measurable social impact by providing a trusted community hub that supports wellbeing, encourages cultural and creative engagement, empowers young people and families, and strengthens community resilience through accessible and inclusive opportunities.

THE VISION

We are considered trailblazers of community engagement and creators of a self-sustaining community hub that continues to serve as a vital and sustainable resource for future generations.

The Community Need

Across many communities, rising social isolation, increasing financial pressures and reduced access to affordable community spaces are creating significant challenges for families, young people and older generations alike.

Demand for accessible wellbeing support, meaningful social connection and positive youth engagement continues to grow, while many local communities face increasing fragmentation and fewer trusted spaces where people can come together, feel supported and build a sense of belonging.

Sherwood Park Hall exists to help bridge that gap, providing an inclusive, community-led environment where wellbeing, creativity, connection and opportunity are accessible to all.
